BY THE GOVERNOR.

A PROCLAMATION.
The Thirtieth Day of May in each year has been made a legal holiday in Wisconsin, not alone as a public and official recognition of the patriotic services of the soldiers and sailors whose fidelity and valor rescued our nation from impending dissolution, but also to remove all semblance of justification for omitting to conform to the custom which has hallowed and set apart that day for decorating the graves of deceased soldiers:
Therefore, I, William E. Smith, Governor of the State of Wisconsin, recommend to all the people of the State, that they do this year observe this day in a befitting manner. Wherever it is practicable, let the strewing of flowers be supplemented with parades and music and orations, and if in any place public ceremonies are not held, let some patriotic and public-spirited man, woman or child see to it that no soldier's grave is without a tribute of spring flowers.
In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Wisconsin to be affixed.
(Great Seal.) Done at the Capitol, in the city of Madison, this fifth day of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-one.
WILLIAM E. SMITH.

By the Governor:
HANS B. WARNER, Secretary of State.
They are trying to make out now that Platt is the dog and Conkling the tail, and that in the resignations, the dog wagged the tail.

It is said Conkling's re-election will not come with the asking. If he gets it he will have to work for it and put in some heavy strokes.

The Chicago Tribune's edition of Sunday morning, contained the revised New Testament in full. It filled sixteen pages in good sized type, and was very neatly printed.

Now that William E. Chandler has been defeated for Solicitor General, he will try for the New Hampshire Senatorship. He may try, but there is such a word as fail.

The men who supported the principles of justice and liberty and who fought against the extension of slavery, were once called "Black Republicans" by the Democrats. These same men are now called "half-breeds" by the Grant faction of the Republican party.

The New York Legislature is composed of 160 members—125 in the House and 35 in the Senate. On a joint ballot there are 107 Republicans and 53 Democrats. The working majority of the Republicans is a strong one, and there is no chance that any coalition can be formed which will defeat a straight Republican.

A man in Chicago who calls himself "Professor" Thomas Clarke, announces in an advertisement that he is preparing to demolish Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll in a single lecture. When a singed-cat can successfully demolish a Bengal tiger, probably "Professor" Clarke will be able to demolish Colonel Ingersoll.

The June Atlantic is sensibly lighter in the character of its articles than has been the rule heretofore with that excellent monthly. Whether this is to be ascribed to the editorship of Mr. Aldrich or to a desire for lighter reading during the summer months, we cannot say. Certainly the number maintains the dignity and elevation of thought which has marked the Atlantic while dropping its ponderousness. We call the attention of our legal friends to the announcement that the July number will contain an article on "Trial by Jury in civil suits."

Colonel Thomas A. Scott, whose death was prematurely announced in the papers on Saturday, died late on Saturday night, at his home at Derby, not far from Philadelphia. Colonel Scott was one of the most remarkable men of his time, and was probably the greatest railway magnate this country ever produced. His services to the country during the war when he had the management of the Pennsylvania railway, were incalculable. He was a power in transporting soldiers that was matchless, and never failed to put in practical use his vast strength for the government. It is said he was worth some seventeen million dollars.

THE PRESIDENT'S RIGHT TO NOMINATE.
Since the war broke out between the administration and Senator Conkling, in regard to the nomination of Judge Robertson, there has been a good deal of discussion respecting the right of the President to make nominations without consulting the Senate. There are a great many who have taken Mr. Conkling's side of the controversy, who find a crumb of comfort in the supposed fact that he is in the right, that the President is in the wrong, and that the constitution does not permit the President to make nominations without consulting the senatorial power. Persons who support Mr. Conkling on this score, are mistaken in regard to the provisions of the constitution on this point.
In the second section of the second article of the constitution, are found these words, speaking of the duties of the President: "He shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the Senate shall appoint ambassadors, either public ministers and consuls, judges of the Supreme Court, and all other officers of the United States whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law." Then, according to the constitution, the nomination of any person for a position under the government, is the sole act of the President. He can nominate whomsoever he pleases, without consulting a cabinet officer, much less a Senator, and no one has any business to question his right in this direction. To nominate is one thing—to appoint is quite another. The spirit of the constitution is all right. It gives the President the sole power to designate persons for certain public positions. There has never been a time under the government when the President consulted the Senate or sought its advice regarding nominations. He named the men he wished to fill offices, and the Senate acted its pleasure about confirming or rejecting the nomination. If the Senate confirmed the nomination then it became an "appointment" and not until then, and the appointment was therefore made by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

To attempt to dictate to the President whom he shall nominate for public office, would be a flagrant violation of the spirit of the constitution and would strike the executive power with paralysis. These facts should be understood, and those who have been condemning the President because he did not consult Mr. Conkling before he made certain nominations, will learn that they were on the wrong track, and did not understand the provision of the constitution respecting nominations and appointments.

CHICAGO GOSSIP.

From our Regular Correspondent.
CHICAGO, May 21—"Enders," the nephew of the late Lord Beaconsfield, departed last Tuesday on his trip to England. He assured me that his honeymoon would be spent in the United States, that he would not stay in his native land a day after being married and arranging his affairs. That during eight years he had got thoroughly Americanized, and loved this country and its people exceedingly. He said his illustrious uncle when alive, was miserly and mean to his relatives.

While waiting at the depot a few moments he informed me in answer to a question, that several reporters had attempted to interview him, and had bothered him a great deal, most notably a piquant chap from the Inter Ocean, probably the editor, but he had most scrupulously maintained his well known reticence, and would not answer one question; but as your humble correspondent has treated him with the greatest deference and respect, he would have no hesitation in the future as in the past, either verbally or by letter, in giving me many facts relating to his own life and that of his uncle. I thanked him most heartily, and the train slowly moved away. He has been eight months only in Chicago. The police have been ordered to remove all signs and awnings which obstruct our sidewalks, including street peddlars. Loafers will next receive attention.

It is estimated that the dog license present year will benefit the city to the amount of $50,000. Males are $2 and females $1.
Since July last 3,248 saloon licenses were issued.
Nearly 5,000,000 of sewer brick will be required by the city this summer and fall.

About 35 miles of street will be improved this year at a total cost of $1,000,000.

Dr. Charles Earl, the notorious abortionist will be sent to Joliet on a four years sentence this week. Our supreme court refused to grant a new trial.

Thirteen prisoners were received at the county jail last Wednesday.

Marriages average 24 daily, at present, and divorces six.

One new street-car line, three miles long, is approaching completion, and other lines are in process of construction.

Fish of good quality is plenty this summer in both lake and river. Perch is abundant.

Some of our prominent merchants have left for Europe with their families, for extended vacations.

Five Boston capitalists have settled permanently in Chicago, and are about opening up extensive business.

UNSUCCESSFUL.

Important Nominations Left Without Action.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Following are the more important of the nominations received by the Senate last session and left without action, and therefore expired at final adjournment:

Collector of customs—Thomas M. Broadwaters, Vicksburg, Mass; Edward J. Castello, Natchez, Miss.

Surveyor of Customs—Lucius P. Thompson, Philadelphia.

United States Attorney—George M. Daskin, Northern District of Alabama.

Surveyor General—Orlando H. Brewster, for Louisiana.

Receivers of Public Monies—John M. Farland, Detroit, Mich.; James M. Wilkinson, Marquette, Mich.

Supervising Inspectors of Steam-Vessels—George H. Starbuck, Second District; Thomas W. Van Valkenburg, Ninth District.

Postmasters—F. C. Mattes, Bethlehem, Pa.; Judson Spafford, Huntington, W. Virginia; E. B. Harrison, Fayette, Ark.; William Rule, Knoxville, Tenn.; L. R. Morgan, Pulaski, Tenn.; Thomas H. Prince, Gallatin, Tenn.; Mrs. Julia P. Wallack, Jackson, Tenn.; Francis M. Hobbs, Austin, Tex.; W. A. Elliot, Oakville, Tex.; J. B. Williamson, Marshall, Tex.

THE TESTAMENT AT BOSTON

Boston, Mass., May 21.—The booksellers have had about all they could do to meet the eager demand for copies of the revised edition of the New Testament. The book thus far received has been sold all the way from 25 cents to $4, and copies at the latter price have been just as freely bought as the cheapest. About 20,000 copies of all varieties will have been disposed of to-day. The booksellers say that they had no idea of so considerable a demand, and that they should have ordered thousands where they ordered hundreds.

CONKLING'S PURPOSES.

The Stalwarts Hold a Conference at Vice President Arthur's Residence.

New York, May 22.—A conference of stalwart Republicans was held this afternoon at the residence of Vice President Arthur. Conkling and Platt left the Fifth Avenue hotel early in the afternoon and went directly to the Vice President's house. Soon after representative Republicans began to gather at the same place, and only a few were actually engaged in the conference, but many were gathered to hear the result and offer their advice. What transpired was not given out for publication, but it is understood that Mr. Conkling exhibited a large number of letters and telegrams affirming his action, and urging him to be a candidate for re-election. It is also understood that he announced that he would accept of the request of his friends and be a candidate, and Mr. Platt also decided. Confident assurances were given by the majority of those present that he (Conkling) could be elected without difficulty. It was also decided that Conkling and Platt should go to Albany in company, and make a general canvass. Many telegrams were sent to all parts of the State, urging immediate and vigorous action. Great dependence was placed on the personal efforts of Conkling. His presence in Albany, his friends believe, will be beneficial. The attitude of the Senators towards the administration was one of the points discussed to-day. It was concluded to keep out of the canvass as much as possible. "Mr. Conkling will not agree to support the administration," said one of those present to a Tribune reporter.

A CONFIDENT SENATOR.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—A Republican Senator to-night expressed confidence in the re-election of Messrs. Conkling and Platt to the Senate. He further expressed the opinion that if the New York difficulty was patched up the dissensions that now affect the Republican party would all be healed before the four years rolled around and the next Presidential campaign. He was of the opinion that Mr. Garfield would yet give the country such an administration as to cause him to be renominated, and if he did not, a new man, unheard of now, would be named. He thought, unless the present administration was of such a character as would repeat itself, the people would manifest their disgust at the personal status of politics as to nominate a man not known as a politician. It was not impossible that the time was near at hand for the re-creating of parties. He was fearful that if the New York difficulty was not healed up that State could not be carried again very soon, but the Republicans would lose the next election in consequence.

THE VICE PRESIDENT.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—There has been considerable comment here to-day on a remark made by Vice President Arthur upon leaving the city to the effect that he would not return before December, unless summoned by the President. So long an absence is not usual with a Vice President, and shows very plainly the want of harmony between the first and second officers of the government. It is the subject of general remark that while the relations of President Hayes and Vice President Wheeler were of the most cordial character, the latter spending much of his leisure time at the White House, the relations of the present pair are quite the reverse. A friend of the Vice President says that his attachment for Conkling is so great that he would resign the Vice Presidency in a moment if such a course would be of any benefit to the ex-Senator. It is the first time in recent years that a president and vice president have been so out of accord upon a personal issue.

DELIBERATE MURDER.

MILWAUKEE, May 22.—A special gives the following particulars of a tragedy in Grant county yesterday: A cold blooded murder was perpetrated in the village of Rockville. An old man aged 65 years named Rice started for Potosi with his team, accompanied by his son, a mere lad. They had to drive through a timbered lot on the line of an old and little used road laid out on land owned by a family named Gammon. A son of the latter had felled trees across the road to prevent travel, and had warned Rice repeatedly not to go that way over his land; but the old man persisted, and was killed. Young Gammon, at the distance of forty feet, took deliberate aim with a six-inch revolver, resting it against a tree, and fired two shots in quick succession. One ball went through Rice's heart, the other against the third rib. Death was of course instantaneous. Young Gammon is 28 years of age. He was arrested soon afterward and lodged in jail at Potosi. He is indifferent about the tragedy, and says he acted in self-defense.

ST. CROIX LAND-GRANTS.

MADISON, May 21.—The Supreme Court of this State lately issued an alternative writ of mandamus upon the Secretary of State, in the matter of the claim of Sloan, Stevens & Morris, for legal services rendered the State in the prosecution of timber-trespassers upon the St. Croix Land-Grant; but the Secretary proposes to file an answer in August next, declining to audit the claim. He will say that it is a claim that should have been settled by Governor Taylor; also that he does not believe it to be a proper claim against the State; for the reason that the grant consists of lands given by Congress to aid in the construction of railroads, and the State merely acts as an agent, without the power to contract debts in protecting them, unless authorized by the Legislature. The issue is therefore, squarely brought and the State must now have to decide whether or not the Secretary be compelled to audit the claim.

REMARKABLE STORY.

CINCINNATI, May 21.—In 1860 Prof. Crowley, of the Mount Auburn Female college, of this city, was assassinated on the street at night while attempting to defend lady friends who had been insulted by roughs. The men escaped, and the murder has since remained a mystery. A man died in Nashville a few days ago, who, on his death bed, for the first time told the story of the murder. He says himself and two companions met Crowley after the quarrel. One of them stabbed Crowley, who placed his hand on wound and exclaimed, "My God! I am killed!" and, turning around three times fell dead. This is verified by the accounts published at the time, is all that was known. The dying man says he and his companions escaped to the hills, had away a day or two, and skipped to New Orleans. On the very night of their arrival there the three, while passing an alley, were accosted by a man precisely of the same dress, size, and appearance of Crowley. The man stabbed Crowley's murderer in the same place as the former had been wounded, and the man made the exclamation, "My God! I'm killed!" turned around three times and fell dead, just as did Crowley. Another of the party went West and met a horrible death, the third and last being the party who died at Nashville and told his story.

THE DEATH-DEALING FROG.

MILWAUKEE, May 21.—John Helms, an employee of the St. Paul road, caught his foot in a frog in the company's yard to-night, and before he could extricate it, was run over and instantly killed.

O. Green, Helen Davis, and Jared G. Winslow, and to all persons interested in the lands herein described. Take notice that a petition was filed in the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Rock County, in the State of Wisconsin, on the 24th day of May, A. D. 1881, by the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway Company, praying for the appointment of three commissioners to ascertain and appraise the compensation to be made to the owners and persons interested in the lands described in said petition, and to ascertain, appraise and determine the value of each of said lots and parcels of land proposed to be taken with the improvements thereon, and the damage sustained by the owner by reason of the taking thereof, and the amount of compensation to be made to each of such owners, in the manner required by law, to the end that said railway company may acquire the real estate, in said petition described, and hereinafter mentioned for its station grounds and yards. That said petition will be heard by Hon. H. S. Conger, Judge of the Circuit Court for said County of Rock at the Court House in the city of Janesville, said County on the 6th day of June, A. D. 1881, at nine o'clock in the forenoon.

Following is a general description of the lots and parcels of land described in said petition: The north half of lot number one hundred and thirty-five (135) in said County of Rock, and the south half of lot number one hundred and thirty-five (135) in said County of Rock, except that part conveyed by William T. Goodhue, to C. F. H. Goodhue and George J. Goodhue and their wives to the Farmers Loan and Trust Company for the use of Rock County, March 25th, 1881, in volume 15 of deeds on page 511. All of that portion of lots sixty-six (66), sixty-seven (67), sixty-eight (68), sixty-nine (69), and seventy (70), seventy-one (71), seventy-two (72), seventy-three (73), seventy-four (74), seventy-five (75), seventy-six (76), seventy-seven (77) and seventy-eight (78), in said Goodhue's subdivision lying north of the line of right of way of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway in said city of Beloit.

THREE FISHERS.

Three fishers went strolling away to the stream. To the babbling brook where the fishes swim. Of speckled beauties they all did dream. And each felt certain they'd a bite for him. For men may fish, yet, and men may not, And suffer the fierce mosquito's bite, And drink to stop their growling.

Three fishers strolled into the market place, 'Twas some two hours after the sun went down, And a look of gloom was on each man's face, For at empty baskets they each did frown. For men may fish, yet, and men may not, And tired and weary go home at night, And vent their wrath in growling.

Three fishers strolled into the beer saloon, Where the crowd sat 'round and the gas was bright, And each gaily whistled a merry tune, And showed his fish with assumed delight. For men may fish, yet, and men may not, And boast of catching the fish they buy, While inwardly they're growling.

THE SCIENCE OF SEISMOLOGY.

The Most Remarkable Earthquake on Record.

Zadkiel in his "Voice of the Stars" for April did not make a precise prediction of the earthquake reported this morning, for though Asia Minor is one of the regions exposed to seismic influences through the near conjunction of Saturn and Jupiter, the seat located his earthquake at Cabul. Such a catastrophe was, however, confidently expected by better authorities than Zadkiel, Tao Sze. Those who have not given the subject attention will be surprised to learn how closely earthquakes are observed nowadays, and how frequently they occur. Prof. Rockwood noted 60 days between July 18, 1877, and November 23, 1878, on which one or more shocks were felt on the American continent. Fuchs in 1878 recorded the unusually large number of 12 volcanic eruptions at places far apart and mostly from the low volcanoes, and 108 earthquakes, though this enumeration includes as units many complete periods. One earthquake at Tanna lasted four weeks; in Catania the ground trembled almost continuously from October 4 to November 19.

The year 1879 was marked by a great number of earthquakes and volcanic eruptions, many shocks being reported almost at the same instant from places widely separated. Thus on the 8th of January severe shocks were felt in the Caucasus, in the Tyrol and in Luxembourg; on the 9th, the most violent earthquake since 1868 was experienced at Arequipa, Peru; on the 10th shocks were felt at Cologne and throughout Southern Germany; on the 11th, more at Vienna; on the 12th, another violent shaking at Arequipa. In the middle of May eruptions began from Vesuvius; on the 25th, lava and ash, pouring out of the crater for a fortnight; simultaneously a similar outburst was noted at Geisfugie, Iceland, and on the day that Etna broke into activity a violent eruption of the Cebazone mountain in Ecuador long regarded as extinct, was chronicled. The eruption of Etna was followed by continuous earthquakes in Sicily until the end of June, so the outbreak of the Cebazone was accompanied by severe convulsions in Hungary, Bosnia and Bessarabia, throwing down houses and trees and opening fissures from which water poured in floods, and culminating in the violent shocks at Agram, June 21-22, while tremblings were observed at Mexico, May 26-27, and at Hastings May 21. Thereafter Europe had a comparative rest till about the 1st of November, when all the south and east of Hungary, Servia, Roumania and Bessarabia felt incessant earthquakes of considerable intensity, some shocks even lasting a minute. At the time of least activity of volcanic forces in Europe—July 11—three strong shocks were felt in Cairo and near the Pyramids, something unknown in Egypt since 1857. In Persia, March 22-April 2, there were twenty-one villages destroyed and a great number of persons killed; of the 1,200 inhabitants of Manan and Tark but few escaped. Japan was visited by several disastrous shocks between March 23 and June 5, its volcanoes being also in active eruption. China had its turn June 29-July 11, with after-shocks of sufficient violence, though not nearly so destructive in August and September. There were very serious eruptions and shocks extending over a large area in Central America soon after the new year, after which the great crater of volcanic activity was comparatively quiet in the Pacific the were disturbances in the early part of the year, culminating in the eruption of Kilaua in June.

But it was in 1880 that the series of seismic convulsions which had been taking place in Europe since early in 1879 reached their climax. On the 30th of December, 1879, several small shocks were felt throughout Switzerland. A month later similar manifestations took place in Germany and Italy. February 6 Vesuvius was in full action, and four days later Etna sympathized, as did the mud craters at Paterno. Almost weekly came reports of convulsions in various parts of Europe, Portugal, Spain and France, and, especially, Italy and Switzerland, the manifestations of seismic force becoming more frequent and forcible, and extending over a wider area as autumn came on, until a culmination was reached in the terrible convulsions of November 9-22, affecting all southeastern Europe from Venice to the Black Sea, Bohemia to the Balkans. At the Croatian capital, Agram, was the greatest damage done. Though there were few lives lost, hardly a building in the town remained uninjured, the damage amounting to several millions of florins. Hot springs burst out of the earth, and two active mud volcanoes were formed. It is curious to note that while Vesuvius had been showing particular activity during each of the earlier periods, and so late as the fortnight, October 26-November 10, during the Agram manifestations it remained nearly quiescent. It may be added that on the 3d of February, 1881, Agram was again visited by an earthquake. Japan, where, by the way, a most valuable series of observation has been taken—experienced two severe earthquakes—one at Tokio in December, 1879; another in February, 1880 (Yokohama, 22d; Tokio, 25th), the most violent felt since the country had been opened to foreigners. On the Alert, which was anchored in the harbor, it was thought that the vessel was dragging her anchor in a squall. At the beginning of May the earthquake season opened in Asia Minor, the village of Haidin, near Sinope, being cut off by the sea so that not a trace of its buildings remained. But the convulsions reached their height toward the end of July (July 28-August 4) when Smyrna and the surrounding places suffered enormously. In one town, Menemen, of 1,140 houses, 665 were demolished, and the seven mosques and churches were laid in ruins.

In the six neighboring villages, of 900 houses, barely half a dozen were left standing. The earth opened in 150 places to vomit for three hours floods of green water; the Hermus sank three feet below its usual level; the streams of the Gypira range lost four-fifths of their water, while at Bounabat the long-dried fountains flooded the plain. Almost at the same time (July 13-24) the Philippine Islands became the scene of notable convulsions. At Manila not a single public edifice was spared; the inhabitants were forced to fly to the fields outside, and 320 lives were lost. The water in the river rose 3 1/2 feet almost in a moment, and sank again as suddenly. The shocks, some lasting more than a minute, were felt all over the island of Luzon; the volcanoes started into activity; the earth opened to vomit hot ashes and jets of boiling water. In September violent shocks threw down pagodas and light-houses near Rangoon and along the coast of Java. In America the manifestations were unusually numerous and violent, beginning at San Salvador January 1-10. Ilopango was destroyed and its lake, the crater of an extinct volcano, boiled up with mud and sulphurous vapors, a crater being eventually formed in its center. On the 4th the boiling lake in Dominica burst into fresh activity, and toward the close of the month all western Cuba was visited severely. General Grant's earthquake. On the 1st of February severe shocks were felt at Vuelta Abajo and in Mexico; on the 9th, a volcanic eruption in Santo Domingo had an echo in the shape of a smart tremblement in the Ottawa valley. On the 14th of April San Francisco experienced the heaviest shock known for years. June 29 the eruption of the volcano del Fuego in Guatemala marked the commencement of an era of terrible activity. A column of flames shot up to the height of 500 feet, throbbing with strong regular pulsations for nearly two hours, at intervals of fifty seconds; the River Guacale rose suddenly and ran warm. July 23 much damage was done to New Amsterdam and other parts of Guiana, and August 14 a terrible convulsion visited Chili, though, happily, the loss of life was not proportionate to its severity. The shock was felt on the highest points of the Andes, where the telegraph wires were broken and thrown down, and at Mendoza, east of the Cordillera, earthquakes occurred on the 16th and 19th such as had not been known since 1861. It was about this time that an earthquake was felt in the Azores, followed by the emergence from the sea of a new island of 18,000 square yards area. With the horrors of the earthquake at Casamicicola in the first week of March our readers are familiar.

The most notable and disastrous earthquakes on record, it may be said, are those of Italy (526), when 130,000 persons perished, and of Sicily (1693), when 60,000 lost their lives. According to Gibbon towards 542 each year was marked with the repetition of earthquakes of such duration that Constantinople was shaken above forty days—of such extent that the shock was communicated to the whole surface of the empire. At Antioch a quarter of a million persons are said to have perished. This period of earthquake and plague (542-7) was the period when the superior planets were in perihelion, as they are now. Arabian and Persian chronicles record 111 earthquakes between the seventh and eighteenth centuries, some lasting from forty to seventy days, and nearly all accompanied by winds or floods, or terrible storms or lightning and thunder. Readers of the "Relations des Jesuites" will remember the great earthquakes of 1663, which shook and tossed the earth for six months from Gaspe to Montreal, the rival of our own earthquake of 1811 in the Mississippi Valley. The severest of the earthquakes felt in this region was that of November 1755, an echo of the convulsion that tumbled down Lisbon—and saved the Pomba Ministry, through the fact that the Minister's house was almost the only one left uninjured and his family one of the few not bereaved of a member. Hein, in his interesting opusculum on earthquakes, estimates that on an average two earthquakes a day occur on the earth. In 1870, though there was no severe single shock, 2,255 houses were destroyed or greatly damaged in Italy, ninety-eight persons killed and 225 wounded. The same shock may last for years; instance that of Vienna, in the Valais, which endured from July, 1855, to 1857. At Cabul 33 severe shocks have been felt in one day; at Honduras, in 1856, 108 were counted in a week, and at Hawaii, in 1868, 2,000 shocks occurred in one month. Hein, it may be said in connection, opposes the theory of a connection between earthquakes and volcanic eruptions and considers that of their coincidence with atmospheric phenomena as better supported by facts; for they are occasionally preceded or accompanied by thick and white clouds, at seasons when fogs are not frequent, by sudden falls of the barometer and equally sudden changes of temperature. Their occurrence, however, in the majority of cases coincides with normal meteorological conditions. Earthquakes are more frequent after sunset than in the daytime, in autumn and winter than in spring. The influence of the moon is insignificant.—N. Y. World.

Peasant Life in Normandy.

Nearing Aline, we begin to perceive, without doubt, that we are in a foreign country. True, the landscape is not unlike our English rural landscape, when especially inane, and the farmhouses and buildings are like most others we know; but there is dawning a difference. For instance, in England we never saw those huge, queerly hunched horses, with great sheepskins hung at their necks, on the top of their collars, and bits of shiny bridle and halter dangling about their forelegs in a fashion which British Dobbins would never submit to for an instant. And our indigenous British Hodge, how very unlike him is this Norman peasant, in his invariably blue blouse, which dots the view with a bit of refreshing color. He just stops in plowing or wagon driving—and what queer shaped wagons they are!—to look up as the train skims by; and, if near enough we perceive that he is spare-made, sharp-featured, generally bearded, but has a neatness of costume and intelligence of face rather beyond Hodge's. It sets us moralizing and speculating on his daily life—what sort of a cottage or hovel he lives in; what kind of people are his wife and children; and whether, supposing we were to drop in upon them at their supper to-night, we should in the least understand them, or they us, in language, habits or sympathies, any more than if we had dropped from the moon. This with only an hour and a half of sea running between! It takes down our insular pride considerably. Truly the world is a wide place.—Mrs. Mulock Crick.

tuted for the place of torment, and with a sigh of relief remarked that those fellows had knocked "hell" out of the Bible. A straight orthodox reminded him, though, that perhaps they hadn't succeeded in knocking it out of the next world. There was a shadow of sadness flitted over his face again.

The news dealers gained one advantage from the immense sheet the Chicago presses sent forth yesterday. The fellows who hang around the counters and read the papers, lay them down and go off without leaving a "thank you" or a "good morning," couldn't get away with the whole new testament at one standing, and had to give it up, or else invest and take their reading away with them.

In the Circuit Court Saturday afternoon the jury in the case of Murphy vs. O'Brien, as well as the one in the case of Warder vs. Mehan, were out when the time for adjournment was reached. Both juries were instructed to return sealed verdicts, which they did, and these verdicts will be opened to-morrow morning. A special venire for ten more jurymen was issued to-day, there having been a number on the regular panel necessarily excused. To-morrow the trial of criminal cases begins.

In the Gazette's new year write-up of the manufacturing interests of the city, attention was called to the prosperous and growing condition of Hilt & Bear's morocco factory, and that a new building was demanded, and would be built soon. The work of preparing the foundations of the new building has now commenced. It is to be 56 by 24 feet, and will be located on the old site. It will be pushed to completion as soon as possible, and will be a marked improvement.

A reservoir, large enough to hold 2,000 barrels of water, is being built on the hill back of the court house. It is to be used as a fire cistern for the Third ward, and above it is to be built a fine band house, so that there can be outdoor concerts this summer. The money needed for the reservoir has been appropriated by city and county, the former paying $250, and the latter $150. It is thought this will be enough, but if more is needed, it is to be raised by private subscription.

The employees of Hodge & Buchholz purchased the most elegant cane to be had in the city, and this afternoon presented it to Mr. Robert Hodge, who this day retires from the business in which he has been engaged for more than a quarter of a century. This act speaks not only of the generosity of the employees, but also of the many virtues of the recipient, who has so firmly won their respect and esteem. The cane is a beauty, being of ebony, with a heavily chased gold head.

There was a very large congregation at Trinity Episcopal church yesterday morning, and the services were of special interest, the musical portion markedly so. The new organ attracted much attention, and under the skillful handling of Prof. Titcomb delighted the hearers. Its notes poured so clear, sweet and full, and all judges pronounced it one of the finest of its size they ever heard. The choir repeated the music given by them on Easter day, and rendered it grandly. The rector gave a very earnest and practical sermon in which he urged his hearers to be not only hearers but also doers of the word, and to make their religion a real and every day matter.

Mrs. William T. Wright died yesterday morning at her home on Harmony street in the Second ward. She had been an invalid for the past six years, so that her death was not altogether a surprise. Besides her husband she leaves five children, two daughters living at home, another daughter, Mrs. Ballou of this city, Mrs. Smith, of Bradford, and a son who is in Chicago in the employ of some railroad. Mr. Wright is a harness maker, and has lived here many years, and to him and the family thus bereaved will be extended the earnest sympathy of the community. The funeral services were held this afternoon at the residence, Rev. Mr. Brown officiating.

PRACTICAL RE-ENTRANCE.

An instance of a very practical sorrow comes to light and is told so fully as need be by the following letter which Mr. Fred Sonneborn has received, enclosing a money order for the amount named:

BROOKVILLE, Ind. May 20.

Mr. Fred Sonneborn.

DEAR SIR:—Please find herein enclosed money order for $8, which a certain party desires me to send to you as restitution for articles taken several years ago. The value of the articles taken is estimated at $8, and two dollars allowed for interest. The party making this restitution asks your pardon.

Very respectfully yours,

M. FLEISCHMANN.

Catholic Priest.

AMUSEMENTS.

The presentation of "My Geraldine" at the Opera house, on Saturday evening called together only a small audience, much smaller than the play and company merited. Like all of Bartley Campbell's plays, "My Geraldine" has merit in it, and many popular phases. It is a good piece of Irish comedy, and was well given by a company of very evenly balanced strength, who did some excellent work. The play does not equal the "Galley Slave" of the same author, it falling below in its situations and in its general merit. [There are few climaxes to thrill the audience, and no great opportunities for any but ordinary work. The audience at times, however, showed much enthusiasm, and seemed to be well entertained.]

"MY MOTHER-IN-LAW."

This evening Roland Reed, a comedian of high rank, supported by the charming soubrette, Miss Alice Hastings, and an excellent company, are to give that extremely funny play, "My Mother-in-Law." Of Roland Reed the Chicago Tribune says: "For naturalness of acting and expression, and self-control which prevents him ever exaggerating a comic character into a caricature, Roland Reed could scarcely be replaced by any other artist in this country." Other papers speak equally highly of him, and all unite in pronouncing him as a most mirth provoking fellow, and this play a budget of fun. Those who want to laugh heartily should prepare their toilets for a struggle, and secure firm seats.

Incredible.

F. A. Scratch, druggist, Ruthven, Ont., writes: "I have the greatest confidence in your BURBODK BLOOD BITTERS. In one case with which I am personally acquainted their success was almost incredible. One lady told me that half a bottle did her more good than hundreds of dollars' worth of medicine she had previously taken." Price $1.00, trial size 10 cents.

Sold by A. J. Roberts and Sherer & Co.

COMFORT AND SPEED.

Those who delight in travel by rail, and who want to have all the attendant comforts possible, and those who have to travel on business, and who want to make it as easy as possible, are loud in their praise of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad. The management of the well-known road has shown great enterprise in providing it with all the latest conveniences and appliances for the comfort and safety of its passengers. It has steel rails, through car arrangements to many points in the far West, has its celebrated Pullman sixteen wheel sleepers, has parlor cars with reclining chairs, and elegant smoking cars with revolving chairs, in fact everything possible to make life on the road worth living.

By these arrangements one can go with ease and speed from Chicago to Quincy, Dubuque, Sioux City, Des Moines, Council Bluffs, Kansas City, St. Joseph, Topeka, without any change of cars, and surrounded by every
